

these settled in the valley of Owego Creek. The journey occupied thirty-seven days.*

In 1793, Enoch Slosson and his son Esbon, with their families, also from Stockbridge, settled at what was then and for some time afterward known as Brown's Settlement. Esbon came the year previous to make preparations for settlement. He built the first frame house and kept the first inn and store in town, in 1800. A portion of the house forms a part of the hotel now kept by Edward B. Lincoln. Asa Bement Jr., one of the sixty proprietors, settled in 1794. "He was a man of substantial worth of character, and contributed much, together with the other settlers from Berkshire county, to give to the region in which he settled, the good name and character it has ever since enjoyed."

The first settlers upon the west branch of Owego Creek were Michael, Laban and Elisha Jenks, Jonas Muzzy,† Captain

*Their means of conveyance was two sleds drawn by yokes of oxen. Their route was direct from their homes to the Hudson at Coxsackie, thence through Durham, across the Catskills, through the old towns of Harpersfield and Franklin to the Susquehanna, at the mouth of the Oule-out, and down the Susquehanna to Oquaga. Thus the tedium of the journey—mostly through a wilderness and over a road not deserving the name of highway—was relieved only by the sight of log cabins at intervals varying from ten to twenty miles. At Oquaga they crossed the river, taking with them only such of the stores and movables as were indispensable, and pursued their journey across the highlands which separate the Susquehanna and Chenango rivers, to avoid the circuitous route by the Great Bend. They reached the Chenango about one mile above its mouth, but for several days were unable to cross it, owing to the unsafe condition of the ice. When the ice broke up canoes were procured and the whole party, except Mr. Wilson, embarked and proceeded towards Owego, where they, (except young Dean and Norton, who parted company at Choconut to make a permanent settlement there,) again joined Wilson, who remained to care for the oxen and sleds, which he left for safe keeping, until they could be conveniently sent for, with Gen. Stoddard, a short distance below, and proceeded to Owego by land. After enjoying the hospitalities of Owego, which then numbered six families, they commenced the laborious task of cutting a road from there, through the forest, to a point about three miles above Newark Valley, where they arrived the first day of April. The season being favorable, Mr. Wilson and his three companions made the necessary preparations for making sugar, and notwithstanding the limited facilities, were very successful. Their camp was established upon the homestead of John Harmon, now deceased. Within three days after their arrival three of the party started back for the goods left at Oquaga and the teams and sleds left at Gen Stoddard's. The journey there and back occupied eleven days, and on their return Mr. Wilson regaled them with the sight of 150 pounds of sugar, as one of the fruits of his labors during their absence.

Wilson kept bachelor's hall until 1797, when he was joined by his mother and sister, and having no one to share with him the fruits of his labor he did not sow wheat the first year. The Messrs. Brown made the first clearing for wheat, and on the new ground the yield was abundant; twenty to forty bushels per acre was an ordinary harvest. In December, 1799, Mr. Wilson married Electa Slosson, daughter of Enoch Slosson.

† From the statement of Calvin Jenks of Berkshire we learn that Mr. Muzzy was the first to settle on the West Branch. Mr. Muzzy was from Spencer, Mass.

Scott and Thos. Baird. Michael Jenks built a saw mill on the West Branch, about 1803, and a grist mill on the same stream in 1814. These were the first mills erected on that creek and were located at Jenksville.

The first school was taught by David Master, part of the time in this town and part of the time in Berkshire.* The whole was then included in the town of Union.

The record of the part taken by this town in the suppression of the Rebellion is a very creditable one and will be referred to with just pride by the descendants of those who were residents of the town during that eventful period. About 125 men were furnished for the army, and the enlistments were made principally in the 50th Engineers and 109th and 137th regiments of Infantry. Of this number about twenty-five were killed or died from wounds and diseases contracted while in the service. Capt. Oscar Williams was the first to enlist. He joined the 44th Infantry, the celebrated "Elsworth's Avengers," as private. He was taken sick while in the field and returned home, where, after regaining his health, he took an active part in raising a new company, of which he was elected captain. It was designated Co. G. of the 137th Infantry. He was instantly killed at the battle of Gettysburg, July 3, 1863. The town raised $5,000 by the issue of town bonds, and always filled its quotas promptly.†

The First Congregational Church, of Newark Valley, was organized Nov. 17, 1803,‡ by Rev. Seth Williston, with six members. It was the first church in Tioga county. The first house of worship was erected in 1804; the present one, which will seat 500 persons, was erected in 1868, at a cost of $13,000. The first pastor was Rev. Jeremiah Osborn; the present one is Rev. Jay Clisbe. The Church property is valued at $15,000.

The Congregational Church of West Newark was organized with twelve members, Sept. 16, 1823, by Rev. Zenas Riggs, its first pastor. The house of worship, which will seat 250 persons, was erected in 1847, at a cost of $1,500, which is one-half

*Statement of D. Williams Patterson, the distinguished genealogist of Newark Valley, who has kindly furnished us with much information pertaining to this town and vicinity.

†This information was obtained by our agent while canvassing the town. He exercised great care, but the correct figures may vary from those here given.

‡French says, in his State Gazetteer, that it was organized in 1798, by Rev. Seth Williston, a missionary from Connecticut. Our informant is D. W. Patterson, to whom we have previously acknowledged our indebtedness.

There is little doubt that Williston officiated in the capacity of missionary prior to 1803, as we are otherwise informed that he held the first religious exercises in the barn of Wm. W. Ball.

the present value of Church property. Previous to the erection of the church edifice, meetings were held in the barn of Wm. Richardson, until the erection of a commodious school house, when that was used. The church was formed under the Presbyterian form of government, but was changed to Congregational in 1842. The present number of members is twenty-four; the present pastor is Rev. Wm. Macnab.

The First M. E. Church of Newark Valley, was organized Dec. 3, 1830, with eighteen members, by Rev. Moses Adams. The house of worship was erected in 1832; and was rebuilt and enlarged in 1857. It will seat 300 persons, and was erected at a cost of $2,000. The present value of Church property is $5,000. The present pastor is Earles S. Alexander; the number of members, 234.*

The Reformed Methodist Church at Ketchumville, was organized with nine members, in 1837, by Seneca Ketchum, at the instigation of Ephraim M. Turner. The house of worship, which will seat 250 persons, was erected in 1852, at a cost of $1,000. There are fifty-five members. Rev. S. L. Dimmick is the pastor.

The Alpha Church (M. E.) at Jenksville, was organized with about twenty-five members, by Rev. — Salisbury, the first pastor, in 1852, in which year the house of worship, which will seat 350 persons, was erected at a cost of $1,500, which is the present value of Church property. There are twenty-five members. Rev. S. Lindsley is the pastor.†

The Newark Valley Baptist Church, at Newark Valley, was organized with twenty-six members, Oct. 27, 1857, by Rev. L. Ramsted. Meetings were held for a short time in the Congregational church, until about 1858 or '9, when a building was procured and remodeled, and was used for religious services until the present edifice was built in 1869. It will seat 450 persons, and was erected at a cost of about $10,000. Rev. D. F. Leach was the first pastor; the present one is Rev. Russell H. Spafford. There are 115 members. The Church property is valued at $11,000.

NICHOLS was formed from Tioga, March 23, 1824. It lies upon the south bank of the Susquehanna, near the center of the south border of the County, and contains 19,850 acres, of which, in 1865, according to the census of that year, 13,402, were improved. It had a larger per centage of improved land than any other town in the County. The surface is a broken upland, which terminates in steep declivities upon the river. The summits of the hills are broad and attain an elevation of from 300 to 500 feet above the river. A productive gravelly loam forms the soil of the valleys, and a moderately fertile gravelly and clayey loam, underlaid by red sandstone, the hills.

* Two and one-half miles east, at what is known as East Settlement, is a church, an offshoot of this, under the same pastoral care. The building is worth about $2,000.

† This church is a part of the Speedsville (Tompkins county) charge and is under the same pastoral care.

The only important stream in the town is Wappasening Creek, which enters the town from Pennsylvania at the village of Wappasening and flows north into the Susquehanna. That river forms the north and west boundaries of the town.

The population of the town in 1870 was 1,663. Of this number 1,637 were natives and 26, foreigners; 1,645, white and 18, colored.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1871, the town contained twelve school districts and employed the same number of teachers. The number of children of school age was 527; the number attending school, 421; the average attendance, 219; the amount expended for school purposes, $4,477; and the value of school houses and sites, $6,320.

. NICHOLS,* (p. v.) situated near the center of the north border, on the south bank of the Susquehanna, near the mouth of Wappasening Creek, contains two churches, (Presbyterian and the "Free Meeting House," which is occupied by the Methodists,) a fine school, five general stores, one drug store, one hardware store, one boot and shoe store, two hotels, two wagon shops, one blacksmith shop, one cooper shop, one shoe shop and a grist and saw mill. It is about two miles distant from Smithsboro station on the Erie R. R., and is nine miles below Owego. Its population in 1870 was 281.†

* Nichols was formerly known as "Rushville," which name was given it by Dr. Gamaliel H. Barstow, in honor of Dr. Rush, of Philadelphia; but when it was ascertained that there was another village of the same name in the State, (Yates county) its name was changed to that it now bears in honor of Col. Nichols, the patentee of Nichols Patent. In return for the compliment Col. Nichols directed his agent, Judge Emanuel Coryell, to give $200 toward the erection of some public building, and this sum was applied to the erection of the "Free Meeting House," the one now occupied by the Methodists and which was the first church built in the village. A meeting was held Feb. 20, 1829, at the house of Peter Joslin, and a Free Church was organized. The following trustees were appointed, viz.: Emanuel Coryell, Nehemiah Platt, Gamaliel H. Barstow, Peter Joslin, Jonathan Hunt, Wright Dunham, Daniel Furgeson, John Petts, John Cassel, Sylvester Knapp, Ezra Canfield, Edwin Ripley, Cyrus Field, Justus Brown and James Thurston. The church was built in 1829-30, by Hezekiah Dunham, contractor.

† Of the inhabitants of Nichols in 1870, 275 were natives and 6, foreigners; 280, white and 1, colored.

HOOPERS VALLEY, (p. v.) named in honor of Robert Lettice Hooper, patentee of Hooper's Patent, is situated on the south bank of the Susquehanna, opposite Smithsboro, on the Erie R. R., with which it is connected by a bridge crossing the Susquehanna. It contains one wagon shop, two blacksmith shops and about twenty houses.

EAST NICHOLS (p. o.) is located in the south-east corner, six miles south of Owego.

WAPPASENING is a hamlet situated on Wappasening Creek, near the State line, about one and one-half miles above Nichols village, and contains a blacksmith shop, a saw mill, a grist mill, a turning shop, twenty houses and about seventy-five inhabitants.

CANFIELD CORNERS is situated in the north-east part, on the east bank of the Susquehanna.

The first settlement in the town was made by John and Frederick Evelin, (the descendants of the family now spell the name Eveland.) A Vangorder and two sons (Leonard and Benjamin) and a man named Sullivan, all of whom lived near Canfield Corners.* The families of Ebenezer Ellis, Pelatiah Pierce and Stephen Mills settled in the town at a very early day, as early as 1787, and probably prior to that time, as Daniel Pierce and Daniel Mills, sons of Pelatiah Pierce and Stephen Mills, were born in the town, the former in 1787 and the latter in 1788. Alex. Ellis, of Barton, son of Ebenezer Ellis, was born in Barton, in October, 1788, to which town Messrs. Ellis and Mills soon removed. Geo. Walker purchased the premises of Mr. Ellis and occupied them. James Cole settled here about the same time as those previously mentioned, on the farm where Emanuel Coryell subsequently resided, and when Judge Coryell and Robert Lettice Hooper visited the valley on their exploring and surveying tour, they were entertained at his house. The settlers in the town thus far claimed but a possessory interest in the land they occupied, having, as yet, received no title from the patentees. Judge Emanuel Coryell came, with his family, from Coryell's Ferry, on the Delaware, N. J., in 1791.† Families by the name of Jones, (Isaiah) Bass

* Statement of John W. Lanning, (son of Daniel Lanning, one of the first permanent settlers,) who was born in this town and is now nearly eighty years of age.

French says Ebenezer Ellis, Pelatiah Pierce, Stephen Mills and James Cole made the first settlement in 1787.

† Judge Coryell had been in the valley of the Susquehanna, at this and other points above, two or three years previous, in company with Robert Lettice Hooper, exploring and surveying lands, in which the latter had an interest as patentee. He became the agent of Mr. Hooper and of those and Emmons lived at an early day upon the Moughantowano Flats, and the latter is credited with having raised the first crop of wheat in the town. Caleb Wright occupied the farm upon which the village of Nichols now stands at an early day, and Stephen Dodd resided next below him. Major Jonathan Platt and his father, also named Jonathan, came with their families from Bedford, Westchester county, in 1793, and settled upon what was known for many years as their homestead. The elder Mr. Platt died two or three years afterwards from the effects of an injury received while preparing a field for wheat. His son, the Major, held among other offices of trust, that of sheriff, for several years. At his house the first town meeting was held. Col. Richard Sackett was a contemporary pioneer with Major Platt. Miles Forman, a Revolutionary soldier and pensioner, well known at an early day as sheriff Forman, also came from Westchester county in 1794-5. Major John Smyth, a Revolutionary soldier, came from Monroe county, Penn., in 1794. He was accompanied by his sons General John, Gilbert and Nathan Smyth. Gilbert became a resident of Barton. John, after his marriage with the daughter of Benjamin Goodwin, of Tompkins county, in 1797, became a resident of Ithaca, and who subsequently acquired the title to the patents originally vested in that gentleman.

He served in the Commissary Department during the Revolutionary war, and was granted a pension of $240 per annum, under the act of 1832.

His journey, with his family, to Nichols was made by crossing directly from the Delaware to Wilkesbarre, and thence ascending the river in a Durham boat, by the aid of men employed at the latter place. The journey upon the river occupied two weeks.

Owing to the reasonable prices at which the lands for which he was agent were held, and the liberal inducements offered those who were seeking homes in the west, this section of the county was more rapidly settled than others, and even than the Boston Ten Townships, where the lands were held at prices which were deemed unwarranted.

Mr. Coryell served, for many years, with rare ability and dignity, as First Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the widely-extended county of Tioga; and was, for several years, elected Member of Assembly from this county, in which position he wielded an extensive influence, and by his affability, acquired a strong personal popularity. He was the first Supervisor of the town. Says C. P. Avery, in The Saint Nicholas:

"His house was the center of good cheer for the vicinity in which he lived, and, bred among gentlemen of the old school, who were models of hospitality—he knew well how to cheer the coming and brighten the heart of the parting guest.

"From early youth he suffered from a physical infirmity, which interfered much with his walking, and caused him great inconvenience, yet his natural flow of good spirits and his usefulness were not materially affected by it; a constitutional cheerfulness saved him from anything like gloomy and morose feelings. With great kindness of heart and a hand open to charity, he was at the same time tenacious of his personal honor and prompt to resent an intentional insult or injury, by whomsoever and under whatsoever circumstances it might be offered.

"* * * His political views, like all his other principles of action were openly and freely avowed, and, as an ardent admirer of General Hamilton and of the school of policy and doctrines of which he was recognized at the time as the exponent, Mr. Coryell, with characteristic frankness, was not lukewarm in identifying himself with the politicians and statesmen of that party."

Mr. Coryell died in January, 1835, at the age of 82.

owned a tract of land upon which a portion of that village stands. Nathan, who was noted for his practical benevolence, died on the farm on which he resided for sixty-three years previous to that event, May 15, 1857. The following statement made by him previous to his death, describing the manner in which the early settlers lived, was furnished us by his nephew, Hon. Washington Smith. He says:

“Many of the settlers brought plenty of clothing with them. As that was used up domestic manufacture was the popular doctrine of the Valley—wool, flax and deer skins being the raw material for the manufacture of clothes for male and female.

“Buckskin was much worn; some men dressed in buckskin from head to foot. As for food, there was an abundance of deer, and the river afforded shad and other fish plentifully; corn and wheat were soon raised in sufficient quantities to supply the inhabitants. But the difficulty of getting the grain to a mill was such that much of it was prepared for food by pounding it in Indian mortars. Wheat was sometimes boiled and eat with milk. Soon there were two or three tub mills built, one at Shepard's and one at Owego. Caleb Wright built the first mill in what is now the town of Nichols. The Indian mortars were generally constructed in the top of hardwood stumps, and the grain cracked by means of a stone pestle made for the purpose and attached to a bent sapling as a sweep.”

Lewis Brown, from Westchester county, Benjamin Lounsbury, Ziba Evans, Jonathan Hunt, Richard Sarles and Asahel Prichard, a soldier of the Revolution, were early settlers. Messrs. Prichard and Sarles afterward removed to Owego, where they died at advanced ages. Daniel Shoemaker, a Revolutionary hero, and native of Ulster county, came here from Monroe county, Penn., in 1801 or '2 and settled upon the Maughantowano plain, on land purchased by him of Robert L. Hooper, in 1792, and which is now occupied by H. W. Hooper, his grandson. Jonathan Pettis, Joseph and John Annibal, Joseph Morey and David Briggs, of Briggs settlement, Wm. Thatcher, Daniel Laning and John Russell were early settlers. The latter served in the war of the Revolution, and moved from Litchfield, Conn., in 1801, to Orwell, Bradford Co., Penn., relying upon the title of the State from which he emigrated, and, finding it invalidated, removed to this town the year following, and subsequently to Windham, Penn. Isaac Sharp, an early settler in this town, served with distinguished bravery during the Revolution. An incident which appears in The Saint Nicholas, for March, 1854, will serve to illustrate the devotion with which he entered into that struggle.

“Upon one occasion, at an early period of the war, the Colonel of his regiment desired a detachment of picked men for an expedition then planned and which required men of nerve and prowess. Among other volunteers for the enterprise, Sharp stepped forward, although destitute of shoes. The officer in immediate command drew the attention of the superior officer to the condition of his feet, remarking that they required men with shoes. Sharp promptly convinced them, in his own ready way, that his feet, although unprotected, were as sound as his courage."

Judge Gamaliel H. Barstow emigrated to this town from Sharon, Conn., in 1812. "No gentleman within the limits of the County," says C. P. Avery, "has shared more largely in public confidence, and none whose political influence at home and throughout the State, has been more marked and distinguished." In 1815 he was elected Member of Assembly and filled the position three successive years. In 1818 he was elected State Senator from the Western District, which then comprised nearly half the territory of the State, and in the same year was appointed First Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of his county. In 1823 he was again elected to the Assembly. He was Treasurer of the State of New York in 1825. In 1826 he was elected to the Assembly, and in 1830 he was elected to Congress, serving one term. In 1838 he was made Treasurer. He filled other minor offices with marked ability; and his whole political career is pronounced singularly free from corruption. The first frame house erected in the village of Nichols was built by him. He died at Nichols, in April, 1865, aged eighty years.

The first birth in the town was that of Daniel Pierce in 1787.

C. P. Avery, in speaking of the early occupancy of the town by Indians, says:

"For many years after this town was first settled, many Indian families lived upon the plain, near the mouth of the Wappasening. That portion of this town and the river flats generally, have furnished many articles of Indian handicraft and use, which have been brought to light by excavations and the plough, as well as by the washings of the streams. The Maughantowano plain was a favorite corn-ground of the natives, and while it continues still unimpaired in its aboriginal distinction, it is of no little fertility and historic value, in the vestiges of our Indian predecessors, which are thrown upon its surface from time to time, and have already enriched many cabinets. From events of stirring interest, which have there occurred, * * * it is emphatically 'storied ground.'"

The first grist and saw mill built in the County was erected in this town, by Caleb Wright; and the first steam saw mill in the County was also built in this town, by George Kirby, in 1833 or '4.

Asbury M. E. Church, located on the river road in the north-west part of the town, was organized in 1817, with four members,* by Rev. John Griffin, its first pastor. The church edifice, which will seat 250 persons, was erected in 1822, at a cost of $2,000, or one-half its present value. It was the first church built between Owego and Elmira. Rev. George Comfort is the present pastor. The number of members is thirty-eight.

The M. E. Church, located at Nichols village, was organized in 1829. The Society worships in the "Free Meeting House," (of which previous mention has been made,) which was repaired and rededicated by it in 1872. The original cost of the building was $2,000. It will seat 400 persons. Although repaired and occupied by the Methodists it is still a free (?) church—"open to all orthodox denominations." The present number of members is 149; the present pastor, Rev. George Comfort. The Church property is valued at $8,000.

The First Presbyterian Church of Nichols was organized with thirteen members, in 1859, and their house of worship, which will seat 300 persons was erected in 1865, at a cost of $3,000. Rev. G. M. Life was the first pastor; Rev. A. McMaster is the present one. There are eighty-five members. The Church property is valued at $10,000.

OWEGO was organized Feb. 16, 1791. Spencer was erected from it Feb. 28, 1806. It is the south-east corner town in the County. It is the largest town in the County, and covers an area of 53,650½ acres, of which, in 1865, according to the census of that year, 34,985½, were improved. The surface consists mostly of uplands, which are cut in two by the Susquehanna, and broken by the valleys of small streams. Their summits are broad and rolling, and rise from 300 to 500 feet above the river. The river intervales presents, in some places, an unbroken flat of more than a mile in width. The declivities bordering on the streams are generally very steep. The soil in the valleys is a deep, rich, gravelly loam; upon the hills it consists of a less productive gravelly loam, underlaid by hardpan. The principal streams are Susquehanna River and Owego, Apalachin and Nanticoke creeks. The Susquehanna flows west through the central part; Owego Creek flows south to the Susquehanna, through a broad and beautiful valley, its two branches uniting in the north-west part, and forms the west boundary of the town north of its recipient; Apalachin Creek flows north, through the south-east part, to the Susquehanna; and Nanticoke Creek, which rises in the north part, flows south through the center, to the Susquehanna. Numerous small streams are tributary to these.

Traces of valuable minerals have been found in the town, but they have not been sufficiently developed to determine whether they exist in sufficient quantity to render them profitable. On the farm of Henry McCormick, about one mile south of Owego village, have been found traces of gold, zinc, lead and

The trustees of the academy were, James Pumpelly, Aaron Putnam, Joseph Castle, Anson Camp, Eleazer Dana, Charles Pumpelly, Joel S. Paige, Latham A. Burrows, Gurdon Hewitt, Jonathan Platt, B. Leonard, Jno. R. Drake and Amos Martin. Aug. 1, 1829, Thomas Farrington was elected a trustee to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Joseph Castle. Aug. 18, 1869, the academy was merged in the Union Schools of Owego, as the Academical Department of the Union School District of Owego.

Its streets are generally well shaded, paved and provided with clean and substantial walks. It is the commercial center of a large and productive agricultural region. Its eligible location and railroad facilities constitute it one of the most important villages in the southern tier of counties. It is an important station on the Erie and Southern Central railroads, and the southern terminus of the D. L. & W. R. R. Owego Creek is crossed by two bridges within the limits of the village, and the Susquehanna, by one.||

All kinds of machinery and agricultural implements are manufactured, but a specialty is made of the "Champion Grain Drill," of which about 400 are made per annum. About six stationary steam engines are manufactured in the same length of time. This company have the contract for manufacturing "Haywood & Tomb's Marble Derrick and Polisher," of which they make from 65 to 100 per annum. A capital of $60,000 is used in the business; and sixty-five men are employed.

* Moore & Ross commenced the manufacture of carriages and sleighs April 1, 1859. Hill & Barry commenced the same business, but confined principally to light work, Aug. 26, 1863. In May, 1866, Mr. Hill sold his interest to Scott Harris, when the firm became Harris & Barry. Jan. 1, 1868, Mr. Barry purchased Mr. Harris' interest, and since then has conducted the business alone.

The business uses a capital of $50,000, and gives employment to 38 men. The value of annual manufactures is about $40,000.

The first bridge in the village, the one crossing the Susquehanna, was finished and opened to the public Jan. 1, 1828. It was carried away by floods, March 15, 1868, and was replaced by the present one, which was opened for use in November, 1868. The cost of the present bridge was $54,550.01. The superstructure is 920 feet long. The road

GIBSON CORNERS is a hamlet in the west part, about four and three-fourths miles south of Owego, containing a school house, a blacksmith shop and half a dozen houses.

SOUTH APALACHIN is situated in the south-east part, on Apalachin Creek. Efforts are being made to establish a post-office here.*

The first settlements in the town, it is believed, were made on the site of Owego village, in 1786,† by Wm. and Robert McMaster, Wm. Taylor, John Nealy and Wm. Wood, who came from the east by way of Otsego Lake and the Susquehanna, and made a clearing and sowed grain on an Indian improvement, embraced in the West Half-Township purchased a few years previous by James McMaster and John McQuigg, the original patentees. This purchase, says Wilkinson, was made previous to that of the Boston company and was embraced within its limits, but as it was conducted legally and had the advantage of priority that company relinquished any claim they might have been supposed to possess by reason of the provisions of their title, which extended their patent to the west branch of Owego Creek. In 1787 Amos Draper, an Indian agent and trader, moved his family to the site of Owego to a house built by him the previous year, while residing temporarily at Smithboro, to which place he came from the Wyoming country, in 1786. The house erected by him was the first one in the town. The following year (1788) McMaster and McQuigg, the patentees of the West Half-Township, moved their families to the site of Owego. They came from New England. Other early settlers were — Yates, who came from Mass. in 1791, and settled at the mouth of Apalachin Creek; Caleb and Simeon Nichols, Isaac Harris and Abel and John Bills, all of whom settled in 1792; Hicks Horton, who settled about the same time; Henry Billings, who came in 1798-9; Asa and Sylvester Camp, in 1800. The Nichols were from R. I., and settled near Apalachin. Both were Revolutionary soldiers. Wm. Nichols, son of Simeon, says when they came there were but two houses at Owego. There were two tribes of Indians living at the mouth of Owego Creek, one on each side of the creek. The nearest grist mill was at Wilkesbarre; and when they first came they constructed a canoe from a tree, and with it went to mill, the trip occupying fourteen days. Hicks Horton was from R. I. and settled about two miles below Campville soon after the Messrs. Nichols came. Isaac Harris, also from R. I., located about one and one-half miles east of Apalachin. John Bills and his nephew, Abel Bills, came from New Lebanon, Columbia Co., and were the first settlers at Apalachin. Henry Billings settled at Apalachin, and kept the first tavern there. Asa Camp moved here from the town of Vestal, Broome county, about 1792, having moved into that town from Chatham, Columbia county, in 1787. He located first near Apalachin, on what is known as the "Catlin farm," and in 1800 he crossed the river and settled at Campville, where he built the first hotel at that place, which was kept by his son Roswell Camp, who is still residing in the town, aged eighty-eight years. Campville was named from Asa Camp, who kept the first post office there. Col. David Pixley came, with his wife and three children (David, Amos and Mary) from Stockbridge, Mass., at an early day* and settled about one mile west of Owego, in the town of Tioga, on a beautiful plateau of 3,000 acres, which was known at an early day as "Campbell's Location." In 1802 he disposed of this property to Judge Noah and Eliakin Goodrich, and removed to Owego, where he continued to reside until his death in 1807. Col. Pixley was one of the leading proprietors of the Boston Purchase and was one of the commissioners appointed by the Boston Company to treat with the Indians. He was a man of enterprise and estimable repute, and did much to properly mold the character of his associates. Previous to his settlement he visited the country on one or more tours of exploration. He was an active participant in the Revolutionary struggle and early evinced his devotion to the cause of liberty by accepting a commission in the Colonial army, issued July 1, 1775, by order of the Congress of the United Colonies, and bearing the bold and characteristic signature of John Hancock, President. Col. Pixley familiarized himself with the Indian language and became popular with and doubtless exercised a strong and salutary influence over the tribes who settled in and visited this locality. "Mrs. Pixley," says Wilkinson, "was eminently pious, and made her house a home for strangers, and especially for the missionaries and ministers of that early day."

The Owego Upper Leather Tannery (Samuel Archibald, prop.,) is located at the south end of the bridge crossing the Susquehanna in the village of Owego. It contains 75 vats and 3 leaches, gives employment to ten men, consumes annually about 1,000 cords of bark and is capable of tanning from 8,000 to 10,000 hides per year.

Sherwood, Cornell & Co.'s steam saw mill, located in the north-east part, was erected in 1871. It contains one circular saw four and one-half feet in diameter, and is capable of cutting 30,000 feet of lumber per day.

"The following inscription was copied from a monument in the [Owego] village grave yard.

"In memory of Col. David Pixley, who departed this life Aug 25, 1807, in the 67th year of his age.—He was an officer of the revolution at the siege of Quebec in 1775, under Gen. Montgomery, was the first settler of Owego in 1790, and continued its father and friend until his death.' "*"

The date of Col. Pixley's settlement, if reference is made to the village of Owego, as seems quite apparent, and the assertion that he was the first settler in either the village or town, the latter of which, it will be remembered, at that date included the purchase on which he located, are palpably incorrect.

Reuben Holbrook and David Barney were early settlers in this town. The former was a Revolutionary soldier; the latter built the first house upon Apalachin Creek. Capt. Elisha Ely, from Saybrook, Conn., another Revolutionary hero, settled at Owego in 1799. Many of his descendants still reside there. He died in 1801. Joseph Gaskill, to whom reference has previously been made,† settled here in 1789. Daniel Ferguson, who died near Flemingville many years since, was an early settler in that locality. During the early progress of the Revolutionary war, in which, though quite a young man, he was a soldier, he was captured on the Delaware, by the Indians, and detained on the site of Owego village during the winter and for a large portion of the year. He was adopted into an Indian family who occupied a bark lodge near where Paige street intersects River street. Upon his settlement in the town he was able to designate its precise locality, from its proximity to the rounded Indian burial mound, upon or near the homestead premises of the late Eleazar Dana, which retained its peculiar shape long after the village was settled. Although he admitted the considerate kindness of his captors, their mode of life possessed little charm for him; and while on a hunting expedition on the Delaware in company with the Indian by whom he was adopted, he escaped by an ingenious stratagem during the night, and made his way to Port Jervis, Orange county, where his friends resided previous to his capture.

Jesse McQuigg, one of the sons of the pioneer, John McQuigg, was accustomed to relate that the Iroquois, exclusive of the Mohawks, who had removed to Canada, when on their way to attend the council held at Tioga Point, shortly previous to the defeat of Gen. St. Clair in the Miami country, in September, 1791, to conciliate the Iroquois and dissuade them from participating against us in the war then threatening our exposed north-western frontier, and represented on the part of our government by the distinguished Indian negotiator, Thomas Pickering, and Robert Morris, son of the talented and able financier of the Revolutionary crisis, and on the part of the Indians, among others, by Farmer's Brother and the gifted orator, Red Jacket, disembarked near his father's house, and prepared and eat their breakfast upon the open plain. They extended, so numerous were they, from the house of his father to that of James McMaster. Several hundred natives of both sexes attended this council from the head waters of the Susquehanna and its tributaries. They presented an imposing display as they approached the site of the village of Owego, in bark canoes, arranged in compact order and moving with regularity and uniformity. "In stature they were above the medium size, and with their head-dresses, glittering broaches and flowing blankets, they presented a spectacle, not novel at that period, but after this lapse of time, invested, in its contemplation, with a romantic interest, like that which attaches to a legend rather than to actual history."

Emanuel Duel, a Revolutionary soldier, settled, with his family, in the north part of the village, in 1790.* A family by the name of Talheimer, from the Mohawk, settled here at an early day, and was followed by several other families of Dutch and Irish extraction. Judge Stephen Mack became a resident of Owego village in 1799. As the pioneer printer in Tioga county, † his history, as well as that of Stephen B. Leonard, who early engaged in the same profession, is intimately connected with that of this town. Judge Mack held for many years the position of Justice of the Peace, and, at a later day that of First Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Broome County. "In all his official positions," says C. P. Avery, he "brought to the discharge of his duties unimpeached integrity of character, and strong native powers of discrimination, improved by a good education." His social qualities evinced no less marked excellence. Stephen B. Leonard came to Owego, when young, in company with his father, a Revolutionary soldier, and a native of Berkshire county, Mass., in 1806, having previously lived in New York, his place of birth, and began at the age of fourteen to learn the printing business, in the office of Judge Mack. At the expiration of his term of apprenticeship he visited New York and Albany and remained two years at the latter place to perfect himself in his business. He returned to Owego and in 1813 purchased The American Farmer from Judge Mack, and changed the name of the paper to The Owego Gazette, which he continued to publish for about twenty-two consecutive years, though during much of that time he was associated with J. B. Shurtleff, to whom he subsequently sold the paper.* He was a Representative in Congress from 1835 to 1837, and from 1839 to 1841. He performed the arduous duties devolving upon him in that capacity with fidelity and ability. He still, after a life of active usefulness, resides in Owego, having reached the ripe old age of eighty years.

* At an early period in the settlement of Owego, when no flour could be obtained at any point less distant than Wilkesbarre, Mr. Duel started in his boat for that place to obtain a supply, leaving his family with but slender means of subsistence. The unexpected prolongation of his stay rendered their situation critical; but at this juncture the timely assistance of an Indian, called by the whites, Captain Cornelius, (who entered the house, and perceiving their situation, departed and returned in a few hours with a supply of venison,) relieved them from want for many days. He also shared with them his "corn flour" which had been prepared in the usual Indian mode, by the maize-pounder.

This Indian was shot down about the time of the holding of the council. The cause assigned is jealousy of his friendship for the whites. The name by which he was designated by his own people was Kanaukwis.

In 1791 there were six families living on the site of Owego village, the number having doubled since 1788.

Wm. Williamson made the first settlement at Flemingville in 1820. He came from Scipio, Cayuga county, and has resided on the farm on which he located till the present time. He is 73 years of age. At the time of his settlement the country in his vicinity was a wilderness, and his nearest neighbor was three miles distant. John Giles, who came in 1832, was the first doctor that lived at Apalachin. He was drowned while crossing the river to visit a patient, by stepping into an air-hole in the ice.

The first white child born in the town was Electa Draper, daughter of Amos Draper, the pioneer and Indian agent. She became the wife of Stephen Williams Jr., and moved to Newark Valley, where she died. She was born June 19, 1788. The first school was taught by — Kelly, in 1792; the first store and hotel were kept by Wm. Bates, at Owego, on the lot where the Ahwaga now stands; the first post office was located on the bank of the river, above the Ahwaga House, and was kept by Stephen Mack, who was postmaster at different times for several years; the first grist mill was built by Col. Pixley on Owego Creek, in 1793, previous to which time and until the erection of Fitch's mill, four miles above Binghamton, in 1790, the early settlers in this locality were obliged to go to Wilkesbarre, Penn., with their grain, by means of canoes on the Susquehanna, a journey which usually occupied about two weeks; the first saw mill was built by Amos Stafford; the first tannery was started by Lemuel Brown.

Speaking of Owego in 1813, Spafford, in his Gazetteer of New York, says, "The lands are held in fee, and the inhabitants manufacture their own clothing in their own houses, from the growth of their own farms."

For many years the postoffice at Owego was one of the four distributing offices of the State. The growth of that village was greatly enhanced by the salt, plaster, lumber and wheat shipped for the Pennsylvania and Maryland markets. A very destructive fire occurred Sept. 7, 1849, in Owego, by which seventy-five dwellings were consumed.

The first religious services were conducted by Rev. S. Williston, the pioneer preacher in the Susquehanna Valley.

The First Free Will Baptist Church of Owego, located at South Apalachin, was organized with fourteen members, in October, 1816, by Rev. John Gould, its first pastor. The first Church edifice was erected in 1844, and was burned in 1859; the present one, which will seat 200 persons, in 1865, at a cost of $1,500. Rev. Hiram S. Ball is the present pastor; the number of members is fifty-five. The Church property is valued at $3,500.*

The First Presbyterian Church, of Owego, was organized with eleven members, July 24, 1817, by Revs. Hezekiah May, Jeremiah Osborne and William Wisner, the former being its first pastor. The first house of worship was erected in 1820; and the present one which will seat 700 persons, in 1854, at a cost of $13,000. The Society numbers about 400, and is under the pastoral care of Rev. Samuel T. Clarke. The Church property is valued at $25,000.

The First Baptist Church, of Owego, was organized with thirty members, (twelve males and eighteen females,) Aug. 2, 1831. The first house of worship was erected in 1835; the present one which will seat 700 persons, in 1858, at a cost of $4,000. It was greatly enlarged and improved in 1870. The first pastor was Rev. Samuel Ford; the present one is Rev. W. H. King. There are 787 members. The value of Church property is $70,000.

St. Paul's Church (Protestant Episcopal,) was organized in 1834, and its house of worship was erected in 1839. It will seat

St. Patrick's Church (Catholic) was organized with twelve members, in 1840. Their house of worship, located on Main street, in the village of Owego, was erected in 1840, at a cost of $1,200, and was enlarged in 1860. It will seat 500 persons. Rev. Father O'Riley was the first pastor; Rev. J. Rogers is the present one. There are 2,000 members. The Church property is valued at $20,000. Connected with it are a free school and the Convent of the Sisters of Mercy.

The Congregational Church was organized with forty-six members, Feb. 19, 1850. Their house of worship is located on Park street in the village of Owego. It was finished Feb. 10, 1852, and cost $5,000. It will seat 500 persons. The first pastor was Rev. S. C. Wilcox; the present one is Dwight W. Marsh. The number of members is 227. The value of Church property is $20,000. The church is out of debt.

The First Wesleyan Methodist Church, at Apalachin, was organized with thirteen members, by Rev. Matthew Dearstine, the first pastor, Feb. 25, 1850. Their house of worship was erected in 1871, at a cost of about $1,500, and was dedicated Dec. 11th of that year. It will seat 200 persons. The Society numbers forty-eight members. The pulpit is vacant in consequence of the death of their pastor in February, 1872. The Church property is valued at $2,000.

The Presbyterian Church, at Apalachin, was organized with five members in 1855, through the efforts of Mrs. Margaret Camp and Rev. O. N. Benton,* its first pastor. The church edifice was erected in the spring of 1856, at a cost of $2,600, and will seat 250 persons. There are twenty-five members; but the pulpit is vacant at present. The Church property is valued at $3,000.

The M. E. Church of South Owego, was organized May 20, 1856, though a class was formed in 1830. Their house of worship was erected in 1856, at a cost of $1,200, and will seat 200 persons. Rev. Joseph Whitham was the first pastor after the erection of the church edifice, though Rev. John Griffin was the first to preach to them prior to that time. The pulpit is

The Free Will Baptist Church of Apalachin was organized in 1869, by Rev. H. S. Ball, its first pastor. The church edifice is now in process of erection and will cost $3,000 and seat 250 persons. The Society numbers thirty-six. Rev. John Swank is the pastor.

The M. E. Church of Owego erected its first house of worship in 1822, and the present one, which is located in the village of Owego, in 1871-2, at a cost of $42,000. It will seat 1,100 persons. The date of its organization and the name of its first pastor are unknown, the record being lost. The church was dedicated by Revs. Jesse T. Peck (now Bishop Peck) and B. I. Ives. Its 384 members are under the pastoral care of Rev. William Bixby. The Church property is valued at $50,000.

RICHFORD was formed from Berkshire, as Arlington, April 18, 1831, and its name changed April 9, 1832.† It lies in the extreme north-east corner of the County, and is bounded on the north by Cortland and Tompkins counties, on the east by Broome county, on the west by Tompkins county, and on the south by the town of Berkshire. It covers an area of 18,457½ acres, of which, in 1865, according to the census of that year, 10,462, were improved. The surface is broken and very hilly. Its hills are the highest in the County, being estimated at 1,400 to 1,600 feet above tide. The roads, where practicable, follow the valleys. It is watered by the east and west branches of Owego Creek (both of which flow south, the former through the center of the town, and the latter separates it from Tompkins county,) and several small tributaries to them. The soil in the valleys is generally fertile and the hills are susceptible of cultivation to their summits. The town is covered to a considerable extent with forests and lumbering is carried on to a limited extent.

The old Catskill turnpike extends through the town in a westerly direction. This road is much traveled.

The Southern Central R. R. extends through the town along the valley of the east branch of Owego Creek.*

In 1870 the town had a population of 1,434. Of this number 1,403 were natives and 31, foreigners; 1,415, white and 19, colored.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1871, the town contained nine school districts and employed ten teachers. The number of children of school age was 516; the number attending school, 433; the average attendance, 225; the amount expended for school purposes, $3,324; and the value of school houses and sites, $6,004.

RICHFORD (p. o.) is located south of the Center on the east branch of Owego Creek and on the S. C. R. R., and contains one church, (Congregational,) a school house, a hotel, store, grocery, drug store, billiard saloon, cigar manufactory,† tin shop, shoe shop, two blacksmith shops, one harness shop, a wagon repair shop, a saw mill,‡ an express office, (U. S.) and 150 inhabitants. This is the only postoffice in the town.

Valley Lodge No. 463, I. O. of G. T. located here was instituted Dec. 11, 1867, with 23 members. The present (June 1, 1872,) number of members is 78.

EAST RICHFORD is a hamlet east of the Center. There is a Free Will Baptist Church here.

*The town gave bonds to the amount of $45,000 in aid of this road. The bonds are issued in denominations of $100 and $500 and bear 7 percent annual interest. They are exempt from taxation ten years from date of issue. They mature at the times and in the amounts specified below.

Bonds due in 1875, $3,000; in '76, $3,000; in '77, $4,500; in '78, $5,000; in '79, $5,000; in '80, $6,000; in '81, $6,000; in '82, $6,000; in '83, $6,500.

†The cigar manufactory of Bayette Bros. was established in 1847, by their father, who commenced business on a small scale, employing but few outside of his own family. The business now requires $25,000 capital and gives employment to twenty-five persons, who manufacture annually about one and one-half million cigars. The Bayette Bros. have purchased a building in Owego with a view to removing their establishment to that village. See page 196-D.

‡The Richford Steam Mills, located here, (H. S. & C. W. Finch, proprietors,) have a circular saw five feet in diameter, which is operated by a fifty horse power engine, give employment to about fifteen persons, and are capable of sawing 3,000,000 feet of lumber annually. A large quantity of lath is also made.

WEST RICHFORD is a hamlet in the north-west part, near the west branch of Owego Creek. There is a Christian Church here.

At the point where the Catskill turnpike intersects the west branch of Owego Creek is the neighborhood known for miles around, since the early settlement of the country, as "Padlock," for the reason that the early settlers in that locality were so suspicious of each other that they secured all their buildings with padlocks.*

In the north-west corner of the town is a neighborhood known as "De Maraudeville Hollow," named from the first settlers, from which the inhabitants can reach the center by public highway only by passing into Tompkins or Cortland counties.

The date of the first settlement is unknown, but it is believed to be about the beginning of the present century. Among those who settled at an early day were Evan Harris, who located at the village of Richford, on the lot upon which the Congregational church stands; Samuel Smith, Samuel Gleason, Nathaniel Johnson, — Stevens, Jeremiah Campbell, Caleb and Jesse Gleason, Ezekiel Rich and William Dunham, many of whom came from the adjoining town of Berkshire. Samuel Smith and Samuel Gleason are said to have been the first settlers.

"One of the communications from the Susquehanna to the 'council fire' of the Iroquois at Onondaga, was located upon the east branch of Owego Creek * * *. The trail followed the bank of the creek to a point not far from its source, where it divided into two branches, one passing over by a short cut to a tributary of the Tioughnioga, and up the latter to its headwaters in Onondaga; the other crossed to the headwaters of what is now called Fall Creek, and thence to the head of Cayuga Lake. These trails were observable to the early surveyors of the 'military tract,' and explorers for several years."†

The first marriage was contracted by Ezekiel Dewey and Lucy Johnson, in 1817.

This town took a noble part in aiding to suppress the Rebellion. She furnished 118 men, who enlisted from and were credited to the town; and fourteen, who went from other towns. Of the enlisted men 11 went with Capt. Catlin; 31 with Capt. Powell, who was the only commissioned officer from the town and who raised a company in the early part of the war; 19, with Capt. Hyde; 20, with Capt. Williams of Newark Valley; and 36 with other companies. In the draft of 1863, thirty-three were drawn. Three of these entered the army as drafted men; thirteen paid $300 commutation; one sent a substitute; and one enlisted, but subsequently deserted and went to Canada. The town raised $2,800 for bounties. Her quotas were always promptly filled, and although her representatives passed through some of the hardest fought battles of the war, the loss was light compared with other localities.*

It is a fact worthy of honorable mention, and one, perhaps, without parallel in the history of the war, that from the family of a widow lady named Lacy, (who subsequently became Mrs. Deacon Hart of Richford,) consisting of nine sons and one son-in-law, the latter and seven of the former enlisted, (the remaining two were not old enough.) Three joined the 3d, and two 137th Infantry, and two, in company with the three who joined the 3d Infantry and subsequently re-enlisted, the 50th Engineers. The son-in-law entered the 109th Infantry. All served their time faithfully and returned home without having sustained the least injury from the weapons of war.†

The First Congregational Church of Richford, at Richford village, was organized with forty-one members, Jan. 14, 1823, by Rev. Seth Burt, its first pastor, as a Presbyterian church, and was changed to Congregational in 1827, though it retained its connection with the Presbytery until 1868. Their first church edifice was erected in 1823, mostly by contributions of labor by the people living in the neighborhood. The present house was erected in 1854, and will seat 300 persons. There are seventy-eight members. Their pastor is Rev. A. L. Green. The Church property is valued at $2,500. Mrs. Rich is the only one of the original members now living.

The Christian Church of West Richford was organized with thirty members, in 1851, by Elder Wm. Grimes, its first pastor; and until the erection of the house of worship in 1861, meetings were held in the school house, the woods and barns. It was first organized as a branch of the South Harford (Cortland county) church. The church edifice cost $1,000, and will seat 300 persons. There has been no regular pastor since 1867; and, owing to the death and removal of some of the leading members the Society has gradually become disorganized.

The First Free Will Baptist Church, at East Richford, was organized as a branch of the Dryden Free Will Baptist Church by Simeon P. Willsey and others, in 1863, and as a separate church, with seven members, by Rev. J. N. Hills, in 1864.

* From statement of J. H. Deming, Supervisor.

† From statement of Grant W. Barnes of Richford.

Their house of worship, which was erected in 1868, at a cost of $1,000, will seat 300 persons. There are thirty members. The first pastor was Rev. S. B. Culver; the present one is Rev. Oscar D. Moore. The Church property is valued at $1,500.

SPENCER was formed from Owego, Feb. 28, 1806.* Candor in this county and Caroline, Danby and Newfield in Tompkins county were erected from it Feb. 22, 1811. Cayuta in Schuyler county was erected from it March 20, 1824. It lies in the north-west corner of the county, and covers an area of 29,136½ acres, of which, in 1865, according to the census of that year, 16,313½, were improved. The surface is an upland, broken by the valleys of several small streams. The ridges extend in a general north and south direction. Their declivities are generally steep and their summits broad and broken. The north-west portion forms the watershed between Susquehanna River and Cayuga Lake. Catatunk, or Catetant Creek, as it was called at an early day, flows east through the center of the town and cuts these ridges at nearly right angles, forming a deep and narrow valley. This is the principal stream, though it is supplemented by numerous small tributaries. The soil in the valleys is a gravelly loam, and upon the hills it is a hard shaly loam.

The Ithaca & Athens R. R. enters the town on the north line, near the north-west corner, and extends through the north-west part to a point a little west of Spencer village, where it turns to the west and leaves the town on the west line, a little south of the center.

In 1870 the town had a population of 1,863, of whom 1,819 were natives and 44, foreigners; 1,832, white and 31, colored.

During the year ending Sept. 30, 1871, the town contained thirteen school districts and employed the same number of teachers. The number of children of school age was 627; the number attending school, 536; the average attendance, 279; the amount expended for school purposes, $3,539; and the value of school houses and sites, $2,972.

SPENCER, (p. v.) located west of the center, on Catatunk Creek, is a station on the I. & A. R. R., and is on the line of the U. & E. R. R.* It contains three churches, (Baptist, Congregational and M. E.,) one Union school, one steam saw and grist mill, one sash and blind factory, eight stores, four blacksmith shops, two wagon shops, two cabinet shops, one hotel, a livery stable, two milliner shops, one dental and two doctor's offices, an undertaking establishment, photographing establishment, three shoe shops, two tailor shops, a meat market, a paint shop, a water-power saw mill,† two harness shops and about 100 dwellings and 500 inhabitants. It was named from Judge Spencer of New York.

*The first town meeting was held at the house of Jacobus Shenicks, Tuesday, April 1, 1806, and the following named officers were elected:—Joel Smith, Supervisor; Jacobus Ferris, Town Clerk; Edmund Hobart, Daniel H. Bacon and Levi Slater, Assessors; Moses Read, Benjamin Jennings and Joseph Barker, Commissioners of Highways; Lewis Beers and Samuel Westbrook, Overseers of the Poor; Isaiah Chambers, Collector; John Shoemaker, Nathan Beers, Wm. Cunan, John Murphy and Isaiah Chambers, Constables; John F. Bacon, John McQuigg, John Mulks and Jacob Swartwood, Pound Masters; John I. Speed, John English, Joseph L. Horton, Jacob Herrington, Alex. Ennis and Lewis Beardsley, Fence Viewers.

Spencer Camp Ground is located in a very pleasant grove, near the village, and but a few rods from the depot on the I. & A. R. R. It has been used for this purpose several years, and the accommodations are ample and good.

SPENCER SPRINGS, (p. o.) located in the north-east part, is named from and noted for the springs located here, which make it a popular place of resort during the summer months. The water is impregnated with iron and sulphur and possesses valuable medicinal properties. There is a hotel here with ample accommodations for visitors, and surrounded by picturesque scenery. It is three and one-half miles north-east of Spencer village.

NORTH SPENCER, (p. o.) located in the north-west part, on the I. & A. R. R., about three and one-half miles north of Spencer, contains one church, (Union) a school house, a store and about fifteen dwellings and seventy-five inhabitants.

COWELLS CORNERS (named from Joshua Cowell, an early settler,) is a hamlet located on Catatunk Creek, about one and one-fourth miles east of Spencer, and contains a school house, a shoe shop, two cooper shops, nine dwellings and about thirty-three inhabitants.

There are several industrial and mechanical enterprises in various parts of the town, removed from the business centers.‡

*The Utica & Elmira R. R., now in process of construction, will pass through this town, near the center, from east to west, following the valley of Catatunk Creek. Grading for it was recently commenced in this town.

†The water-power by which this mill is operated is said to be the best in the town. The mill is located in the north part of the village and saws about 100,000 feet of lumber per annum. John Hallock is the proprietor.

‡John A. Nichols' steam saw mill, located one mile south-west of Spencer village, is operated by a forty-horse-power engine, gives employment to twelve persons and is capable of sawing 1,000 feet of lumber per hour. Connected with it is a lath mill, which manufactures large quantities of lath and pickets.

A. Seeley & Bro.'s steam saw, lath and shingle mill, is operated by a forty-horse-power engine, gives employment to ten persons, and saws about 9,000 feet of lumber, a large quantity of lath and some shingles per day. This company contemplate erecting a grist mill the present year (1872) which will contain three or four runs of stones.

The first settlement was made in 1795, by the families of Benj. Drake and John Barker. Mr. Drake settled on the site of the village of Spencer, which he owned. He erected the first frame building there, which was afterwards known as the "Purdy house." He commenced in this wilderness in a very primitive way. It is interestingly stated by Gen. George Fisher that Mr. Drake "dug out a trough," one end of which he occupied as a sleeping apartment and the other as a kitchen. One day while he was working some distance off his rude habitation caught fire and was entirely consumed—a loss he doubtless mourned sincerely. Phineas Spaulding,* Joseph Barker and Edmund Ho-

Bangs & Bro.'s saw mill, planer and lath and cider mill, located on Catatunk Creek, gives employment to four persons and manufactures annually one million feet of lumber, one-half million feet of lath, 500 cords of wood and about 1,500 barrels of cider, and planes 300,000 feet of lumber.

The Dean saw mill, owned by John D. Vannatta, and located on Dean Creek, in the south-west part of the town, is a small water-power mill and manufactures about 15,000 feet of lumber annually.

Sabin's saw mill, in the north part, on a branch of Catatunk Creek, is a small water-power mill. The water-power is not constant; hence the quantity manufactured varies with the varying supply of water.

Signer's saw mill, in the north part, on a branch of Catatunk Creek, contains an upright and a circular saw, which are operated by water-power, and manufactures about 300,000 feet of pine and hemlock lumber and a considerable quantity of lath per annum.

The saw mill owned by J. VanMarter and J. S. Smith, located on the south branch of Catatunk Creek, about five miles south-east of Spencer village, contains three circular saws which are operated by water, and saws about 400,000 feet of lumber per annum. The proprietors intend converting it into a steam mill this season.

Hug & Mowers' saw mill, located in the north-west part, gives employment to fifteen men and annually manufactures about one million feet of lumber and a large quantity of stove wood from the slabs. The lumber is shipped principally to Ithaca.

Dodge's grist and saw mill, located at the foot of "Huggtown Pond," contains three runs of stones, does a large amount of custom grinding and is capable of sawing one million feet of lumber per annum. It is now operated by water-power, but the proprietors intend to convert it into a steam power mill this season.

Hulburt's saw mill, located at Dry Brook, in the north-west part, is capable of sawing a large quantity of lumber, though it is in operation but a small portion of the time.

The Cook saw mill, located on the Catatunk Creek, is operated by water and is capable of doing a large amount of business, but is not run to its fullest capacity. It saws from 50,000 to 100,000 feet of lumber per annum.

James C. Emery's saw mill, located near Spencer Springs, saws about 300,000 feet of lumber annually.

*While hunting one day Mr. Spaulding shot a panther in a tree and broke its under jaw. When it reached the ground it was attacked by his dog, but was not so much disabled as to be unable to defend itself from its attack. Seeing that his dog was likely to come to grief Mr. Spaulding went to its assistance and was in turn attacked by the panther. He jammed the butt end of his gun into its mouth and before the panther could disengage itself he cut its throat.

At another time during the early settlement of the town, Mr. Spaulding, in company with Levi English, another early settler, followed a bear track bart, it is believed settled the same year, soon after Mr. Drake. Spaulding was from New Hampshire and located in the north part of the town. Joseph Barker came from Wyoming, Penn., and settled on the site of Spencer village. He taught the first school in his own house. He filled the office of Justice of the Peace for twenty-eight years. He raised a large family of children, most of whom are now dead. Edmund Hobart located a short distance north of Spencer village where Benj. Hull now lives. Rodney Hobart emigrated from Conn. and took up his residence at Spencer village in 1796.

John and George K. Hall, brothers, came from Westchester county in 1798, and settled where John McQuigg now lives. They moved their families here in 1806. John McQuigg,* — McLane and — Case settled in the town previous to 1800; and those named are believed to be all who settled previous to the present century.

made in the snow which fell the previous night. The course pursued by the bear lay across the site of the village of Spencer, and they followed it about three miles, when they treed the bear. Mr. Spaulding shot at it five times but failed to bring it down, and as he had but one ball left they concluded to cut down the tree, which they did. When the tree fell the bear was attacked by three dogs the hunters had with them. One of the dogs was killed and the other two driven off, when Mr. English went to their assistance with an ax. He in turn became the object of attack and was pressed so closely that he jumped over the fallen tree, and was immediately followed by the bear. Whichever side of the log English felt constrained to occupy temporarily the unpleasant proximity of the bear on the same soon rendered the opposite side most inviting; and the bear, doubtless relying upon the superior judgment of English, invariably manifested the same partiality as was apparent in the latter, for he changed his position to opposite sides of the log as often as did English, and exhibited his preference with so much alacrity that the latter found it impossible to apprise it of his evident antipathy for its companionship in the way he wished. English jumped over the log and back again several times all the while imploring Spaulding to fire which the latter had been preparing to do with all possible haste. The former, however, was in too imminent peril, or was too solicitous for the welfare of the bear, to accurately note the lapse of time, and the length necessary to load a gun seemed to him exceedingly great. In due time Mr. Spaulding put an end to his intense anxiety by delivering a well directed shot through the head of the bear, which killed it.

*The following, copied from a paper printed at the time the incident occurred, in 1803, explains itself.

“LOST CHILD.”

“DISTRESSING EVENT.—On Saturday last the eldest son of John M. McQuigg of the town of Owego, [which then included the town of Spencer,] a boy about seven years old, went into the woods to hunt the cows and has not been heard of since, notwithstanding the vigilance and exertions of the inhabitants generally throughout the country, who have been collected together in parties, and who have been in continual pursuit of him. It is supposed that a dog belonging to Mr. McQuigg followed the boy and still remains with him. What a heart-rending thought! a little infant only seven years old wandering through the wilderness to be devoured by beasts of prey or perish of hunger! We understand that not less than 400 people are this day in pursuit of him. From their exertions we hope he may yet be found to console his afflicted parents and relations.

“Since writing the above we have had the pleasure to learn that the boy was found in perfect health, with his faithful dog, about six or seven miles from home.”

Wm. Hugg and his son, William, came from Connecticut, in 1800, and settled on the west branch of Catatunk Creek, two and one-half miles north of Spencer village. Mr. Hugg brought his family and effects all the way on a single sled drawn by an ox team. Game was plentiful and beasts of prey were too numerous for the peace of mind of the early settlers. The howl of the wolf might be heard every night for twenty years after the first settlements were made. Mr. Hugg recollects to have seen as many as seventeen deer in one herd. Isaac Hugg came in 1801 and located near Wm. Hugg. David McQuigg, an early settler, purchased 100 acres of land of Benj. Drake, the pioneer settler, at $5 per acre, and paid the whole amount with venison and furs.

George Watson, from Canaan, Litchfield county, Conn., came in 1804, and settled on the north limit of Spencer village, on land called the "Watson tract," named from his father, a Revolutionary soldier. Mr. Watson married the daughter of Joseph Barker, one of the pioneers. He had fourteen children, ten of whom are now living. He died at the age of eighty-eight, not having known sickness until that which resulted in his death.

Judge Henry Miller and Andrew Purdy came in company from Westchester county in 1805. The former was a member of the Court of Common Pleas of his county and both were highly esteemed. Elizabeth Miller, the widow of Judge Miller, is still a resident of the town, having reached the ripe old age of ninety-nine. Caleb Valentine and John and Leonard Jones came also from Westchester county the same year and settled on the Catatunk, in the east part of the town. They were the first settlers in that locality. Richard Ferris and his son Daniel came from the same county the following year and settled on the Catatunk, east of Spencer village. Thomas Mosher, from Westchester county, became a resident in 1805.

Benjamin Cowell came with his family from Connecticut in 1807 and settled near North Spencer. He met with a painful death from the accidental discharge of his gun, which he carried, as was his custom, while looking after the cows.

Gen. George Fisher came from New York in 1810 and settled on the site of Spencer village when, he says, there was only one house there, and no road. He has taken a lively interest in the progress of the village and surrounding country, and still lives at the venerable age of ninety to enjoy the fruits of his early arduous labors. His brother, Thomas, preceded him in his settlement one year. Solomon Mead settled about the same year as Gen. Fisher, near "Huggtown Pond." His son John Mead, who came with him, still resides where they first located. Hartman Lotze, from Saulsbury, Litchfield county, Conn., came about 1811. He still resides here and is eighty-three years of age. Joshua H. Ferris came about 1812. His father, Judge Joshua Ferris, who was a gentleman of intelligence and worth, a member of the Court of Common Pleas, a land agent and accurate surveyor, became a resident about 1800. Micah Penin, from Conn., came about 1817 and settled four miles north of Spencer village. Joseph Cole came about the same time. Nathan Martin and three of his sons settled about one and one-half miles north of Spencer village in 1817. Ira Martin, another son, joined them the following year. Alvin Benton settled in the north-west part of the town in 1819. Cyrus Woodford settled on the Catatunk about two and one-half miles east of Spencer village about 1822; and S. D. Bliven became a resident at Spencer village in 1829. A Mr. Cramer, who was an early settler, and built a log-house near the stream which was afterwards called Cramer Creek, was one day at the house of Benj. Drake, the pioneer. The latter had killed a deer and gave Cramer a portion to take home, which he started to do after dark, carrying a pine torch to light his way. He had not gone far before he heard wolves following him. He hurried on, but they came so near that he was obliged to climb a stump. He swung his torch to frighten them, but they pressed him so close that he threw his meat as far as he could, and while the ravenous ferocity of the wolves was thus temporarily appeased he got down from the stump and by making good use of his legs arrived home safe. Thomas Andrews was an early settler at North Spencer.

The first birth was that of Deborah, daughter of Benj. Drake; the first death was that of Prescott Hobart, who was buried on the farm now owned and occupied by James B. Hull & Son and who was re-interred in the village (Spencer) cemetery. The first wheat raised in the town was on this same farm; and the first clover which grew there, on the farm now owned by Jas. Nelson. The latter grew from seed dropped by a horse hitched thereon the previous year by a man from Owego. The first marriage was contracted by John B. Underwood and Polly Spaulding. The first inn was kept by Andrew Purdy; and the first store by Samuel Doolittle. The first grist mill was built by Benj. Drake; and the first saw mill, by Edmund Hobart, on the site of Cook's saw mill.

Spencer village was the county seat of Tioga county from 1812 to 1821. Tioga county then included Chemung county. At the burning of the Court house the last named year the county seat was removed to Owego.

The first religious meeting was held by and at the house of P. Spaulding, and the first religious association (Baptist) was organized by Elder David Jayne.

The Union Church, at North Spencer, was organized with thirty members in 1870, and its church edifice, which will seat 275 persons, was erected the same year, at a cost of $1,500. It has no regular pastor, its pulpit being supplied from Spencer village. The Church property is valued at $1,700.

TIOGA* was formed from Union, (Broome Co.,) March 14, 1800. Berkshire was taken off Feb. 12, 1808, a part of Union, April 2, 1810, and Barton and Nichols, March 23, 1824. It is an interior town, the only one in the county which is not partially bounded by territory lying outside the county. It lies upon the north bank of the Susquehanna, which separates it from Nichols. Its eastern boundary is formed by Owego Creek, its northern, by the towns of Candor and Spencer, and its western, by the town of Barton. It covers an area of 33,344½ acres, of which, in 1865, according to the census of that year, 20,940½, were improved. Its surface consists principally of uplands, which terminate in bluffs along the river intervales. Its streams are Catatunk and Pipe creeks, and numerous small streams tributary to them and the Susquehanna. Catatunk Creek enters the town on the north line, near the east border, and flowing in a south-east direction, discharges its waters into Owego Creek, near the center of the east border; Pipe Creek enters the town on the west line, near the north-west corner, and flowing in a south-east direction, empties into the Susquehanna, near Tioga Center. The soil is a fine dark loam in the valleys and gravelly upon the hills.

The N. Y. and Erie and Southern Central railroads extend through the south part of the town, along the valley of the Susquehanna, and the Cayuga Division of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western R. R. crosses the north-east corner, following the course of Catatunk Creek.

In 1870 the town had a population of 3,272, of whom 2,995 were natives and 277, foreigners; 2,244, white and 28, colored.

During the year ending Sept, 30, 1871, the town contained twenty school districts and employed twenty-one teachers. The number of children of school age was 930; the number attending school, 848; the average attendance, 422; the amount expended for school purposes, $5,504; and the value of school houses and sites $7,741.

* For definition and origin of name see p. 155.

SMITHBORO (p. o.) is located near the south-west corner on the bank of the Susquehanna, which is crossed at this point by a bridge. It is on the N. Y. & Erie and Southern Central railroads and is distant nine and three-fourths miles west from Owego. It contains one church, (Methodist) three hotels, four stores, two groceries, one drug store, two wagon shops, two blacksmith shops, two harness shops, a shoe shop, a creamery,* and, in 1870, had 304 inhabitants.†

TIOGA CENTER (p. v.) is located about the center of the south border, near the mouth of Pipe Creek, and is a station on the N. Y. & Erie and S. C. railroads. It is distant five and one-fourth miles west of Owego and four and one-half, east of Smithboro. It contains two churches, (Baptist and Methodist, the latter is now being built,) one hotel, tannery,‡ shoe shop, three stores, a grist mill, three saw mills,§ (one of which is operated by water and two by steam,) a blacksmith shop, about thirty buildings and had, in 1870, 304 inhabitants.||

HALSEY VALLEY (p. v.) is located in the north-west part, on the line of Barton, and contains two churches, (Christian and Methodist,) two general stores, a grocery, a saw mill,¶ blacksmith shop, wagon shop, two cooper shops, a shoe shop, about thirty dwellings and had, in 1870, 103 inhabitants.

STRAITS CORNERS is a hamlet located near the north line, on a branch of Pipe Creek, and contains a grocery, saw mill and a few dwellings.††

* Smithboro creamery was built in 1866 by Ketchum, Smith & Co., and is now owned by Joseph Winters. It is capable of using the milk from 200 cows, though it is at present receiving it from only 75. It produces from 12,000 to 13,000 lbs. of butter per annum.

† The number of inhabitants comprised 277 natives and 27 foreigners; and were all white.

‡ Quirn's tannery was erected in 1871, the old one built by Wm. Ransom having been burned. It gives employment to 45 men and annually tans 175,000 calf-skins, all of which are imported.

§ Hoff & Thayer's steam saw mill was built in 1867, by the present owners. Smith's steam saw mill was built in 1851, by R. & J. G. Smith and was operated by water until May, 1872, when steam was introduced as the motor. It saws one million feet of lumber annually.

|| The number of inhabitants comprised 268 natives and 36 foreigners; 300 whites and 4 colored persons.

¶ Taylor's steam saw mill was built for a shingle mill in 1868, and in 1871 was remodeled and machinery adapted to a saw mill introduced. It saws 5,000 feet of lumber per day.

 All its inhabitants were natives and all except one were whites.

†† It was named after David Strait, the first and present postmaster. The postoffice was established here in 1853 and two mails are received per week—Tuesdays and Saturdays.

Among other manufacturing establishments in this town are: Giles' steam saw mill, which is located on the line of Barton, and manufactures

Settlements were commenced in this town as early as 1785. Enos Canfield, according to the statement of his son, Amos, came about that year and settled in the south part, on the farm on which Amos Canfield is now living. The latter was born in the town. He says there were but few settlers scattered along the river when his father came. Samuel and William Ransom, — Primer and Andrew Alden came up the Susquehanna from Wyoming Valley the same year and settled on Pipe Creek. Wm. Ransom and Andrew Alden located near the mouth of that creek, on the site of the village of Tioga Center. Wm. Ransom subsequently married the daughter of James Brooks, (Rachel) who came with his family two years later, and raised a family of nine children, some of whom are still living on the old homestead. Col. Wm. Ransom, son of the pioneer by the same name, was born in April, 1801, and still resides at Tioga Center. Col. David Pixley from Massachusetts and Abner Turner from New Hampshire came in 1791, both having previously visited the country on one or more exploring tours. Col. Pixley moved to Owego in 1802, as is stated in the history of that town. Mr. Turner settled near the east line, upon the homestead where he afterwards lived and died. Joel Farnham settled in the east part in 1794-5. Jeremiah White from Wyoming settled at a very early day on the river, a short distance below Owego, on premises subsequently occupied by Abel Stafford, Elizur Wright and, in 1803, by Samuel Giles. Hugh E. Fiddis was an early settler adjacent to Joel Farnham. John Hill from Waterford, Berkshire county, Mass., a Revolutionary soldier, settled near the river bank, below Mr. White, in 1792. Wm. Taylor, who accompanied James McMaster to Owego in 1785, settled subsequently a little lower down the river. Nathaniel Catlin, one of the survivors of the sanguinary battle of Minisink, purchased Mr. Taylor's farm in 1800. Daniel Mersereau from Staten Island settled here the latter year on property purchased from Cornelius Taylor, who came shortly previous from Plymouth, in the Wyoming Valley. He continued his residence there until his death. Judge Noah and Eliakim Goodrich from Glastenbury, Conn., settled on property purchased of Col. David Pixley in 1802, on the latter's removal to Owego. Both died in the town at advanced ages. John lumber and shingles. The first mill on this site was built in 1854, by Wm. W. Giles. It was burned in 1864 and rebuilt the same year. In 1871 the boilers exploded and did damage which required eleven weeks to repair.

Grove Steam Mill, located two miles east of Halsey Valley, was built by its present owner, L. B. Ferbush, in 1871. It saws about 7,000 feet of lumber per day and 500,000 shingles annually.

Beaver Meadows steam saw mill, located about four miles from Tioga Center, was erected in 1870 on the site of a water mill, and is owned by Nichols & Ross. It is capable of sawing 1,000 feet of lumber per hour.

Smith was an early settler in this town. Jas. Schoonover settled further down the river in 1794 and left numerous descendants in the county. Families by the name of Taylor and Hungerford settled in the same locality. Francis Gragg, Nathaniel Goodspeed, Lodowick Light, Jesse Ziba and Amos Miller, (the last four from Westchester county,) families named Fountain and Lyon, (who settled at the Ferry, a short distance above Smithboro,) and Ezra Smith, (who settled at Smithboro, and from whom that village was named,) were all early settlers. Mr. Smith held letters patent from the State, covering a large tract of land in that vicinity, and, in company with Mr. Light, and others, moved from Westchester county in 1791. Beniah Mundy, who located in the south part, was one of the first to settle in this town. He came about 1787.

Asa Severn from Tompkins county was an early settler in the north-west part of the town, when it was a wilderness. He erected a log house and made a clearing. Stephen Rider from Blenheim, Schoharie County, settled in the south part of the town in April, 1816. At the time he came, Mr. Rider says the town along the river was settled to some extent, but the north part was a wilderness, without roads, and infested by wild beasts which frequently preyed upon the sheep belonging to the settlers. Peter Lott settled with his family at Halsey Valley about 1801, and he and his daughter were accustomed to walk to Factoryville, a distance of fourteen miles, to attend church.

Upon the brow of the cliff on the west bank of Owego Creek in this town was an Indian burying ground, which, from the remains found there, appears to have been extensively used. Many Indian graves were also found near the bank of the river a short distance below Cassel's Cove. The remains here were found in the usual posture, surrounded by the customary implements of the chase and ornaments such as were usually deposited with the body which they had contributed to support and adorn in life.

About forty years since, the east part of the town, at the west end of the "Glen Mary," owned by George J. Pumpelly, a large brass kettle, filled with articles of various kinds, of ancient appearance and manufacture, was disclosed by the plow. Among the contents was a copper tea kettle, which inclosed a pewter vessel filled with untrimmed rifle balls, just as they came from the mould. Other articles were an old-fashioned and peculiarly shaped hammer; a parcel of pewter plates of two sizes, the smaller ones showing no marks of use, being bright and undimmed by corrosion, and bearing the impress of the word "London"; and a peculiarly shaped iron or steel instrument, six or eight inches in length, pointed and like the head of an arrow or spear, except that it had a single barb about two inches long, on one side only, and at its other end was a socket, apparently intended for a handle. Other articles of similar value were inclosed by the kettle, and are supposed to have been presents made to the Iroquois by the English agents during our Colonial history to cement the bonds of friendship between them, and to have been deposited where found by some member of that tribe on the approach of Gen. Sullivan's army, to prevent their falling into the hands of the invaders. Death or the fortunes of war, or forgetfulness of the precise spot where they were secreted may have prevented a resumption of the possession on the retirement of the army.

The Christian Church at Halsey Valley was organized in 1847, and erected a house of worship in 1856. It cost $1,200, and will seat 200 persons. The Society now numbers seventy members. Its first pastor was Rev. A. J. Welton; the present one is Rev. Alfred Saxton. The church property is valued at $1,600.

Tioga Center Baptist Church was organized in 1849, by members from North Barton and Owego, and its church edifice, which will seat 250 persons, was erected in 1850, at a cost of $2,000. Rev. Nathaniel Ripley was the first pastor; Rev. Geo. Brown is the present one. There are fifty members, and the Church property is valued at $3,000.

The Christian Church at Straits Corners was organized with seventeen members in 1850, by Rev. B. R. Hurd, its first pastor. Its house of worship will seat 200 persons. It was erected in 1855, at a cost of $950. The present number of members is twenty. The present pastor is Rev. Alfred Saxton. The Church property is valued at $2,000.

The M. E. Church was organized with thirty-six members in November, in 1870, and its house of worship, which is located in the north part of the town and will seat 300 persons, was erected the same year, at a cost of $3,000. Its first pastor was Rev. — Eckert; its present one is Rev. S. B. Keeney. The number of members remains the same as at its organization. The value of Church property is $3,050.

The M. E. Church at Halsey Valley erected its house of worship, which will seat 400 persons, in 1854. The pulpit is filled by Rev. J. B. Santee of Barton. There are twenty members. The Church property is valued at $2,500.

The M. E. Church at Smithboro erected its house of worship in 1867. It will seat 250 persons. Services are conducted by Rev. J. B. Santee of Barton. The Church property is valued at $5,000.
