President Roosevelt's Message to Young People

"If you neglect to prepare yourself now for the duties and responsibilities which will fall upon you later; if you don't learn the things which you will need to know when your school days are over, you will suffer the consequences."

Warner's Business School of Elmira, N. Y., teaches precisely the branches to which he alludes and is demanded by the business world, and such as they are willing to pay for. They are as follows:

Bookkeeping,
Typewriter,
Practical Arithmetic,
Business Forms,
Indexing,
Carbon Paper Work,
Card Systems,

Auditing,
Corporations,
Spelling,
Shorthand,
Business Law,
Business Correspondence,

Business Customs,
Letter Filing,
Mimeographing,
Loose Leaf Ledgers,
Banking,
Joint Stock Companies,
Penmanship, Etc.

This institution not only educates but in addition obtains positions for all graduates, and every one who has graduated from the combined courses of business and shorthand has a situation. To give you some idea of the demand there is for the services of those we train we will say that the last ten students we sent to situations had not graduated.

Be able to earn a good salary and you will get it. Some of our graduates are filling $5,000 positions, others $2,500, and any number $1,200 and $1,500 annually. For further particulars send for catalogue. Address
